

2018 LSWCD Highlights

Worked with Lucas County farmers/landowners to plant 1,340 acres of cover crop, perform 3,340 acres of soil testing, implement 495 acres of agronomic systems, install 6 new water control structures, and worked with the County Engineer on new drainage projects.

Reached tens of thousands of people county-wide through school programs, community outreach, sales, District Newsletter, Backyard Conservation Day, social media, and our website.

Partnered with local, state, and federal agencies to represent Soil & Water and participate in on-the-ground efforts for natural resource conservation in Lucas County.

Participated in the Ohio Habitat Pollinator Initiative's Milkweed Pod Collection and sold over 10,000 trees and 14,000 fish to community members.

How Does my Contribution Help?

While Conservation Districts are a subdivision of government, there is no mandated public budget for the SWCD. Our conservation work depends on our ability to secure grants and voluntary funding from the Lucas County Commissioners, local townships and municipalities, and private citizens.

Donations through the Affiliate Membership Program are used to assist many projects and programs like Backyard Conservation Day, school field trips to Blue Creek Conservation Area, educational programming, community outreach, and our work with farmers on implementing best management practices on their fields.
